

The Laborer Is Worthy

Earnestly ♩ = 72-80

1. The la - bor - er is wor - thy of the wag - es he is paid.
2. Your call - ing may be hum - ble but your faith is strong and true.
3. The world con - fers its hon - ors but those hon - ors fail the test:

The har - vest time is com - ing and it can - not be de - layed,
Your speech at times may stam - mer but the Spir - it dwells in you,
The one who would be great - est must be ser - vant to the rest,

it can - not be de - layed, it can - not be de - layed.
the Spir - it dwells in you, the Spir - it dwells in you.
be ser - vant to the rest, be ser - vant to the rest.

The ser - vants in the vine - yard then will glean the ones who strayed.
O teach me, bro - ther, sis - ter, all the Lord would have me do!
It's by the work of all the saints that all the saints are blessed.
